

8th Globalex Workshop on Lexicography and Neology at EURALEX 2026

GWLN-8 featuring ENEOLI Session (CA22126)

The Globalex Workshop on Lexicography and Neology series (GWLN) has established itself as an international forum for lexicographers, scholars, tool developers, and other practitioners interested in how new words and new senses emerge, are detected, evaluated as candidates for inclusion and described in lexicographic resources. Since its inauguration, the workshop has taken place in seven consecutive years in conjunction with annual conferences of the continental lexicography associations, including DSNA (2019), Euralex (2020 online, and 2022), Australex (2021), Asialex (2023), Afrilex (2024), as well as at eLex (2025). Each edition has brought together participants from diverse linguistic and other traditions to share their experience and exchange perspectives on the challenges, methodologies and processes for combining lexicography and neology. For the eighth iteration, GWLN is supported by funding from the European Network on Lexical Innovation (ENEOLI COST Action CA22126) to further strengthen collaboration in Europe and beyond.

The main topic of GWLN-8 is the shifting role of the lexicographer treating neology in the age of artificial intelligence (AI). While lexicography has always been an early adopter of technological advances in linguistics, corpus analysis, and dictionary production workflows, recent developments in large and custom language models have deeply altered the ecology of lexical innovation, its description, and the possibilities for lexicographers. Neologisms now emerge and circulate not only through human linguistic communities, but also through AI-mediated content creation, algorithmic feedback loops, and hybrid forms of human-machine discourse. At the same time, AI-based technologies create new opportunities for lexicographers to automate detection pipelines, evaluate usage patterns, and compile entries grounded in different types of linguistic evidence and linked to highly structured lexical knowledge bases. Against this backdrop, the presentations reflect on lexicography's mediating role between corpus-based empirical evidence, AI-generated content, and the need for reliable, curated and structured lexicographic data that can feed back into and support the emerging hybrid ecosystem of AI-enhanced human communication.

GWLN-8 will be held at the Austrian Academy of Sciences in Vienna, on Sep. 29, featuring the CA22126 ENEOLI Session, and including a flash presentation of posters that will be presented at the EURALEX poster session on Sep. 30. Papers will be published in the form of a thematic issue of International Journal of Lexicography.

PROGRAM

Tuesday, 29 September 2026, 9:00-13:00 – Oral Presentations

9:00

WELCOME

Kris Heylen and Ilan Kernerman

9:00-10:00

Morning Session

9:00

From neologism collection to lexicographic description: A Corpus-LLM-Lexicographer triangulation framework

Hae-Yun Jung, Jinsan An, Jun Lee and Kilim Nam

9:20

AI-assisted lexicography in Modern Greek: Neology and genre

Anastasia Christofidou, Vassiliki Afentoulidou, Ioannis Tziogkas, Christos Papanagiotou and Aretousa Giannakou

9:40

Documenting the undocumented: Leveraging LLMs for neologism integration into lexicons

Nikos Mathioudakis and Alexandra Fiotaki

10:00-11:00 ENEOLI Session

- 10:00 The ENEOLI matrix of neologism selection criteria: A comparative framework for lexicographic practice
Kris Heylen, Ilan Kernerman, Judit Freixa, Tarja Heinonen, Hae-Yun Jung, Henrik Lorentzen, Kilim Nam, Benjamin Rouxel, Ana Salgado, Miguel Sánchez Ibáñez, Petra Storjohann and Lars Trap-Jensen
- 10:20 Can LLMs automate the neologism life cycle? Evaluating GenAI in lexicographical description of new Polish words
Maciej Ogrodniczuk and Dariusz Czerski
- 10:40 Designing the macrostructure and microstructure of the ENEOLI Multilingual Glossary of Neology
Ilan Kernerman, Federica Vezzani, Anna Vacalopoulou, Onorina Botezat, John Humbley, David Lindemann, Michael Rosner, Ana Salgado and Raquel Silva

11:00-11:30 BREAK

11:30-12:30 Noon Session

- 11:30 Discursive dynamics of pejoration: The term “Pushback” between usage and lexicography
Petra Storjohann
- 11:50 Can LLMs capture China’s emerging economic neoconcepts lexicographically?
Wanjing Han and Gilles-Maurice de Schryver
- 12:10 Mapping emerging AI terminology through automatically built knowledge graphs
Randy Christian Saputra and Sílvia Barbosa

12:30-12:55 Poster-Preview Session (of posters presented at the Euralex Poster Session on Sep. 30)

- 12:30 Tracing neologisms in neo-discourses: Diachronic and cross-domain perspectives
Luisa Cimander and Petra Storjohann
- 12:35 Choosing optimal AI prompt instructions for neologism detection
Marius Glebus
- 12:40 Neology mills? AI-influenced newspaper texts and their implications for lexicology and lexic
Louise Holmer
- 12:45 From detection to standardization: Practices and criteria for terminological neology
Ana Ostroški Anić, Federica Vezzani, Kris Heylen and Ilan Kernerman

12:50-13:00 CLOSURE

Ilan Kernerman and Kris Heylen

Wednesday, 30 September 2026, 14:00-15:30 – GWLN-8 Poster Presentations @ EURALEX 2026
